THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON-INTERVIEW BETWEEN THE BRITISH MINISTER AND THE PRESIDENT— STRONG APPREHENSIONS OF A COLLISION, ETC.

WASHINGTON. August 7-816 P. M.

die., die., die.

The announcement that the fishery difficulties are settled, is premature. Mr. Crampton, the British Minister, had an interview with the President to-day. I have the best reason for believing that, so far from the matter being settled, the gravest fears are felt. It is ascertained that the British government never contemplated enforcing the disputed point of the treaty as to the headlands, but the colonial authorities have always contended for this interpretation, and and have passed laws to that effect. Five of the armed cruisers fitting out by the colonists are instructed to seize all American fishing ves sels violating that interpretation of the treaty. They even go further, and declare that any fishing vessels found within the three miles are lawful prizes. Admiral Seymour, it appears, is as desirous of preventing the execution of this forced construction as Commodore Perry can be; but the danger is, that notwithstanding his watchfulness, some such seizure may take place. Besides, there are at least twenty thousand American fishermen interested in this fishing trade, and authentic information has reached here that they are daily becoming more and more ex-

The warlike demonstrations in the Senate will not have the effect of calming this feeling. The greatest anxiety is, therefore, felt for the speedy adjustment of the diffi-culty. If American blood should be spilled, was would be inevitable. The negotiations which are progressing are, doubtless, rendered more complicated by the fact that the President does not feel warranted in making any concessions to England, for the opening of the fisheries, unless the matter is first submitted to Congress; and the feeling of Congress is not, at present, the most amicable.

The omission by the President, in the correspondence sent to the Senate, of Mr Webster's proclamation, was a pointed rebuke to that gentleman for his course. There is, of course, no danger of a collision between Commodore Perry and Admiral Seymour. X. Y. Z.

THIRTY-SECOND CONGRESS.

House of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, August 7, 1852. LIGHT HOUSES, ETC. Mr DUNCAN, from the Committee on Commerce, reperfed a bill making appropriations for light houses, light boats and buoys, which was referred to a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. SALARIES OF JUDICIAL OFFICERS—A LUNATIC IN THE GAL-ERRY, ETC.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill regulating the costs and fees in the Circuit and District Courts of the United States:

Messrs, Haven and Seymour, of New York, pointed out defects in the bill, and complained of its unjust bearing upon that State, to remedy which, they wished to Mr. Campbell, of Mr., was satisfied the bill was imperfect, and suggested that two days be set aside for its special constituention.

Mr. Means began speaking, when he was interrupted by a crazy man in the gallery, who said somethin about the pavy, and made threats in case something or other should not be done. The officers of the House other should not be done. The officers of the House rushed to the scene, and soon gently removed the stranger, taking from his hand a disk. No extraordinary excitement was produced.

Mr. Neures whiled to know whether that man's specels would be taken out of his time. (Laughter)

Mr. Houses.—Oh. certainly.

Mr. Means continued his remarks in favor of the principles of the bill up to the expiration of the merming hour.

MINORIALS RELATIVE TO THE STEATHOAT LAW, ETC.

Mr. Barcas presented various memorials from citizens, including commercial tirms of New York, asking for the immediate passage of a law affording better protection for lives on board steamboats.

Mr. Prisston King also presented one. They were referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The House, after refusing to consider private bills, went into committee on the General Appropriation bill.

THE GENERAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

A debate ensued, when the proposition was rejected.
Mr. Brooss (whig) of N. V., from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported an amendment, appropriating $115 800 to enable the clerk of the House to deliver to new members such books as have been farmished to members of the four preceding Congresses, provided such purchase and expenditure shall be made under the direction of the Committee of Accounts, and that a report in detail shall be made to Congress, at its next seasion.

Mr. Brooms said, by way of explanation, the House had voted these books without making an appropriation for them, and without which they cannot be procured.

Mr. Polk (dem.) of Tenn. moved to strike out the proviso, as it subjected the clerk to constructive suspicion. He should like to know whether the Committee of Accounts have more fairness and integrity than the

Mr. Walsh, (whig) of Md., said he should vote for the provise, but by so doing, did not intend to reflect on the clerk. He thought that Mesers, Gales and Scaton, who had published some of these books under the invitation of Congress, should have an opportunity to furnish them. them.

The provise was stricken out, by ayes 62, noes 56.

26th, at noon, after a favorable run.

The news by the Pacific has some few features of in-England. The elections are now over with the exception of five five vacancles still to be filled, namely, Orkney and Wick in Scotland, and Tyrone and Donegal in Ireland. It is, even with the returns before us, a different matter to foretell what majority—for majority they will have—the Derby ministry are able to command in the House. The classified lists, published by the leading papers, differ so widely that they can be regarded only a mere approxima-tion to truth; and the terms Ministerial and Opposition in the present contest embrace so many shades of political opinion, that we cannot indicate with an approach to certainty the numerical force, or any division that would involve the fate of the government. The Globe sets down the number at: Liberals 220, Derby-Disraelites 280, doubtful 36. The Morning Chronicle Ministerials 290, Whigs and more advanced Liberals 310. Liberals Conservatives or Peclites between 50 and 60. The Shipping Gazette (from the Times) gives the following estimate which is probably as nearly accurate as may be:—

Affairs in France.

IMPERIAL MOVEMENTS OF LOUIS NAPOLEON, ETC.
Louis Napoleon returned to Paris on Friday evening, the 25d uit, from Strasbourg. He drove in an open carriage, between two lines of troops, about the Boulevards, the Rue Royale, and the Champs Elysée, to the Barriere de l'Etoile. His reception is described as having been extremely cordial on the part of the Parisians. Extensive preparations are already making for his journey to the South. The Municipal Council of Montauban have voted 20.000 frances; Rosanne, 10.000; Bordeaux, 30.000; and Pau a like sum, to give him a welcome.

For some time past, the President has been arranging his heusehold on quite an imperial footing. Gen. Roquet is to be Grand Marahal of the Palace; Col. De Beville, Palace Prefect; Count Bacchiochi, Grand Master of the Ceremonies; Cal. Fleury, Grand Equerry, &c.

It transpires that new titles of nobility continue to be conferred, without any public aunouncement of them. The Parise has taken to styling the President. "His Highness Monseigneur the Prince President," but all the opposition papers omit this handle to his name. Nevertheless, the sectraws are taken as an indication that the wind again sets in an imperial circetion. An additional subject of gossip is found in the approaching fixe on the lith August, the bir hday of the Emperor, on which occasion as many runinscences of the Empire as can be will be revived. One of the most impressive parts of the ceremonic was to have been the incapuration of Napoleon's tomb in the Invalides, but the works cannot be completed in season.

M. Armand Bertin, proprieter and editor of the Debhats,

M. Armand Bertin, proprietor and editor of the Debints, M. M. Lemayne, formerly French consul at Alexandria, Egypt, is appointed Consul General and Charge de Affairs of France at Beunos Ayres.

The approaching marriage of the President is regarded in Paris as a fact beyond doubt. The lady, however, is now said not to be the Princess de Vasa, but another Baden princess, grand daughter of Rugene Beauharnois and of Don Predo. The lady is now undergoing the process of conversion from the Proestant to the Roman Catholic religion, in order to lender her a suitable match.

This announcement is said to have surprised no one except the ministers themselves. They did, however, tender their resignation, which was accepted.

Considerable sensation has been excited in Brain, by the confiscation, for three successive days, of the New Prussian (or Kreutz) Journal and its subsequent declaration that it would cease to appear till the courts of law shall have decided upon the legality of its schaurs. All classes have freely participated in the business doing, and confidence in a yet higher standard of value is very strong, seeing that our stock is not likely to be increased by further import, of any moment, for some time, and the chances of casualities to the growing crop may still exercise an important influence on the probable extent of the yield.
